THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Here's a recap of The Post-Crescent's editorial positions of the last week:

SUNDAY, DEC. 24

On Santa Claus: Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The external light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

TUESDAY, DEC. 26

On a proposal to build an auditorium at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley in Menasha: Any college has needs to get a big chunk of its students together for any number of reasons. An auditorium is a necessity – and UW-Fox's has outlived its usefulness because of safety, wear and disability access issues.
